Financial Markets Daily

Main drivers for the financial markets today...

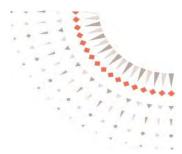

- Stock markets mixed, government bond yields lower and USD up, with support from positive corporate news and China's promise of additional stimulus. Nevertheless, caution persists due to the Fed's more aggressive monetary policy stance, the war in Ukraine and surging COVID-19 cases
- Investors watching earnings reports closely, as well as durable goods orders, housing prices, consumer confidence and new home sales in the US. On the other hand, Hungary will announce its monetary policy decision
- The PBoC pledged additional support to the economy through targeted financing to small businesses and a quick resolution of the ongoing crackdown of technology firms. This signals a less restrictive stance given increasing investor concerns about the effect of recent lockdowns on growth and financial stability
- Russia's Foreign Minister, Sergei Lavrov, suggested that negotiations with the US regarding the conflict in Ukraine could be useful. This happens as several countries meet to discuss ways to increase military support to Ukraine, while UN Secretary General, Antonio Guterres, steps up diplomatic efforts to end the conflict
- In Mexico, February's retail sales grew 0.8% m/m (6.4% y/y), virtually in line with expectations. Inside, we observed mixed results, with strength in clothing and shoes (+3.4% m/m), but with healthcare lower (-8.3%)

Equities

- Mixed movements in equity markets due to the risks of a tighter monetary policy by the Fed, Ukraine's war and the COVID-19 situation in China, although with the expectation of more stimulus in this country. Investors' attention is focused on an increased flow of corporate earnings which has been positive so far. In this way, in Asia the markets closed mixed, while in Europe stocks rise. In turn, in the US the futures of main indices point to a negative open by falling 0.4% on average
- Out of the 39 S&P 500 companies scheduled to report today, 16 have already updated investors with outperforming estimates, including 3M, GE and PepsiCo. Alphabet and Microsoft will publish their figures after the market closes. In Mexico, Alfa and Alpek surprised favorably, even increasing their 2022 guidance; while Asur, Gap, and Oma showed solid growth and higher profitability. Reports from Amx, Gcc, Tlevisa, and Walmex are expected today after the markets close

Sovereign fixed income, currencies and commodities

- Modest positive balance in sovereign rates, with European assets adjusting -2bps, while the US Treasury curve print gains of 3bps, on average, with the 10-year note trading at 2.79% (-3bps). In Mexico, the Mbonos' curve closed yesterday with a steepening bias
- The dollar rises modestly amid mixed performance in G10 currencies limited by +/-0.5%. In EM, RUB (+2.1%) is overperforming, while HUF (-1.1%) stands as the weakest. Meanwhile, MXN trades at 20.26 per dollar (-0.3%), after a 0.2% appreciation yesterday
- Crude-oil swings between gains and losses as investors assessed the impact of China's COVID-19 outbreak on the outlook for global demand. Meanwhile, metals register a favorable balance with gains of 1.0% in industrials. In similar fashion, grains trade in positive territory

Corporate Debt

- Grupo Bimbo signed an agreement for the sale of its confectionery business, Ricolino, to Mondelez International for a company value of MXN 27 billion. According to the statement, the strategic decision will allow Grupo Bimbo to become a stronger global leader in grain-based foods and to focus on its bakery and snack industries. Grupo Bimbo will use the proceeds from this transaction for the payment of debt, capital investments and other corporate purposes in general
- Grupo Bimbo has two issuances in the long-term debt market, BIMBO 16 / 17, with an outstanding amount of MXN 18 billion maturing in September 2026 and 2027, respectively. Grupo Bimbo is currently rated 'mxAA+' by S&P Global and 'AAA(mex)' by Fitch Ratings

| SELL | When the share expected performance is lower than the MEXBOL estimated performance. |

Even though this document offers a general criterion of investment, we urge readers to seek advice from their own Consultants or Financial Advisors, in order to consider whether any of the values mentioned in this report are in line with their investment goals, risk and financial position.

Determination of Target Prices

For the calculation of estimated target prices for securities, analysts use a combination of methodologies generally accepted among financial analysts, including, but not limited to, multiples analysis, discounted cash flows, sum-of-the-parts or any other method that could be applicable in each specific case according to the current regulation. No guarantee can be given that the target prices calculated for the securities will be achieved by the analysts of Grupo Financiero Banorte S.A.B. C.V, since this depends on a large number of various endogenous and exogenous factors that affect the performance of the issuing company, the environment in which it performs, along with the influence of trends of the stock market, in which it is listed. Moreover, the investor must consider that the price of the securities or instruments can fluctuate against their interest and cause the partial and even total loss of the invested capital.
