

Financial Markets Daily

June 15, 2022

Main drivers for the financial markets today...

- Stock markets up, with government bond yields lower and the USD weakening, this with investors awaiting the Fed's decision later today, with concerns about strong inflationary pressures and the impact on growth
- Today's attention will center in the FOMC's meeting, this after an adjustment in expectations in the last few days in which the markets now expect +75bps, especially after the latest inflation report. We must also remember that in these meeting updates to macro estimates and the dot plot are included
- Meanwhile, the ECB is carrying out an emergency meeting today, responding to a strong increase in government bond yields in periphery countries (e.g. Italy) and the reinvestment strategy of the PEPP
- On other economic data, industrial production (April) in the Eurozone was lower than expected at +0.4% m/m. In China, activity data for May was better than expected, although showing an impact from the lockdowns. In the US we expect the Empire manufacturing indicator (June) and retail sales (May)
- In other news, the International Energy Agency (IEA) mentioned that they expect a 2% increase in global oil demand in 2023 to 101.6 million barrels per day, driven by the recovery in China. Nevertheless, supply would be limited, impacted by the reduction in Russian output

Equities

- Positive bias in equity markets, after several sessions with negative movements, as investors await the Fed's monetary policy decision in which a more aggressive stance is expected due to higher inflationary pressures. On the other hand, the ECB's announcement of an emergency meeting to discuss current market conditions stood out
- In Asia most markets closed negative, although Chinese shares rose after better-than-expected economic data. In Europe stocks advance, the Euro Stoxx adds 1.2%. Shares from financial and utilities sectors lead gains, while those from energy and real estate superhead losses. In turn, in the US the futures of main indices point to a positive open by rising 0.7% on average, after the Dow and S&P500 fell for the fifth day in a row, with the latter remaining in bear market territory

Sovereign fixed income, currencies and commodities

- Positive performance in government rates, with European assets adjusting from -10bps to -30bps while the Treasury curve posts gains of up to -14bps concentrated in the short-end. Yesterday, the Mbonos' curve closed with losses of 5bps on average and the 10-year benchmark at 9.27% (+5bps)
- The dollar weakens (DXY -0.7%) as developed currencies gain strength and a positive bias prevails in emerging markets. In the first group AUD (+1.0%) leads the gains, while in the second group the trade is capped by RUB (+3.7%) and PHP (-0.4%). Mexican peso trades with few changes at 20.57 per dollar
- Oil prices fall -0.4% despite the EIA warning that crude oil supply will not be enough to meet demand next year. In metals, gold print gains of 0.9% to 1,833 $/t oz while in industrials the positive bias prevails

Corporate Debt

- Fitch Ratings upgraded CEMEX's ratings to 'BB+' from 'BB' and to 'AA-(mex)' from 'A+(mex)'. The upgrade reflects CEMEX's ongoing stronger operating performance which along with asset sales have supported effective debt reduction since late 2019
- Fitch Ratings affirmed Bepensa and its subsidiary's long-term national scale ratings at 'AAA(mex)' which reflect Bepensa's business portfolio diversification, that includes a presence in the beverage, industrial and financial services sectors
- HR Ratings affirmed the rating for issuance APPCVCB 17 at 'HR AAA (E)' and kept the Stable outlook. The ratings are based on the average Debt Service Coverage Ratio level projected on a base scenario of 1.10x

Determination of Target Prices

For the calculation of estimated target prices for securities, analysts use a combination of methodologies generally accepted among financial analysts, including, but not limited to, multiples analysis, discounted cash flows, sum-of-the-parts or any other method that could be applicable in each specific case according to the current regulation. No guarantee can be given that the target prices calculated for the securities will be achieved by the analysts of Grupo Financiero Banorte S.A.B. C.V, since this depends on a large number of various endogenous and exogenous factors that affect the performance of the issuing company, the environment in which it performs, along with the influence of trends of the stock market, in which it is listed. Moreover, the investor must consider that the price of the securities or instruments can fluctuate against their interest and cause the partial and even total loss of the invested capital.
