Main drivers for the financial markets today...

- Stock markets and government bond yields, with the USD weakening, reflecting cautiousness ahead of the inflation report in the US. Attention also on President Biden's trip to the Middle East, where he will be looking for commitments of higher oil production from countries in the region
- Within June's CPI report in the US, we expect a 1.1% m/m increase in the headline and 0.6% in the core, anticipating pressures in food, autos and rent. With this, annual prints would reach 8.8% -a new 40-year high- and 5.8%, respectively. Also in the US we await the Beige Book, while in Brazil we will have May's retail sales. May's industrial production in the Eurozone surprised higher at 0.8% m/m
- On the monetary policy front, BoE Governor Andrew Bailey mentioned that the institution is ready for higher magnitude increases if it is necessary. Regarding decisions, we have had increases in Korea (+50bps to 2.25%) and New Zealand (+50bps to 2.50%), expecting adjustments in the remainder of the day in Chile (+50bps to 9.50%) and Canada (+75bps to 2.25%)
- In other news, yesterday the IMF cut its US GDP growth for 2023 to 2.3% from 2.9%, which is likely related to higher inflationary pressures and reduction of monetary stimulus
- In the UK, MPs of the Conservative Party will vote for a new leader, which will substitute Prime Minister Boris Johnson. There are 8 candidates, with probabilities skewing in favor of Rishi Sunak (former Chancellor of the Exchequer)

Equities

- Mostly negative stock markets with investors weighing higher interest rates to fight inflation, while assessing the impact on economic activity and keeping an eye on the companies' profitability evolution presented in quarterly reports
- Futures in the US anticipate an unchanged opening with the S&P500 trading 0.3% above its theoretical value. Meanwhile, Europe trades with losses, the Eurostoxx decreases 0.9%, registering the largest falls in the public services and health sectors. In turn, Asia closed mixed, highlighting the Hang Seng decline of 0.2% and Nikkei's advance of 0.5%
- On the national corporate front, Amx reported in line with expectations, highlighting the higher number of subscribers and the EBITDA margin slightly improvement. Otherwise, in the US, Delta Air Lines registered lower than estimated profits and mentioned that the high operating costs will persist for the rest of the year

Sovereign fixed income, currencies and commodities

- Mixed performance in sovereign bonds. European assets post pressures of 1bp while the Treasury curve trades with gains of 2bps on average. Yesterday, the Mbonos' curve closed with losses of 3bps on average and the 10-year benchmark ended at 9.07% (+4bps)
- The dollar weakens (DXY -0.3%) as most G-10 currencies gain ground and emerging currencies trade mixed. In the first group NOK (+0.6%) is the strongest while in the second, RUB (+4.5%) and TRY (-0.8%) are at the ends. The Mexican peso reverses part of yesterday's losses by appreciating 0.4% to 20.78 per dollar
- Crude oil prices advanced 0.7% despite the fact that the EIA cut its estimate for oil consumption for this and next year due to a complex economic outlook, however, it also said that supply-side risks prevail. In metals, gold print gains of 0.3% and industrial metals traded with mixed changes

Corporate Debt

- Today, the reopening auction of three Bancomext sustainable bonds, BACMEXT 22X, 22-2X and 22-3X, will take place for a target amount of MXN 5.0 billion (max. MXN 10.0 billion)
- Moody's downgraded Comisión Federal de Electricidad's (CFE) senior unsecured ratings to 'Baa2' from 'Baa1'. The outlook changed to Stable from Negative. CFE's rating downgrade reflects the rating downgrade of the Government of Mexico, the support provider, which provides rating uplift under Moody's analytical framework for Government Related Issuers (GRIs)
- HR Ratings affirmed BBVA Leasing México's ratings at 'HR AAA' with a Stable outlook, based on the operative synergies the leasing company holds with BBVA México
